The essence of education at Atmiya Vidyapeeth Shinai will be the holistic or all-round development of the child where students will learn to maintain a balance between academics and co-curricular activities which allow them to emerge as confident world-class citizens. At ATMIYA VIDYAPEETH, it will be our endeavour to join hands with the parents to instil humility and respect in the students, inculcating the values of social responsibility, to nurture these young minds and to educate them to be positive towards society and the world.

Special message for parents

1. Happiness is a state of mind, Teach kids to be happy in every situation.
2. A loving atmosphere at your home is the foundation of your child's life.
3. Never argue with your child. By winning in this argument, You ultimately turn out to be a loser.
4. If you really love your kids then their happiness matters more than any thing else.

Remember, education is a collaborative effort, and each one of us has a role to play in shaping the future of our students. I am excited to see the positive impact we will create as we journey through this academic year.

Wishing you all a successful and fulfilling year ahead!

Character refers to the sum of an individual's qualities and characteristics which differentiate him/her from others. An individual's character is actually an amalgamation of his/her qualities which makes him unique and helps him stand apart from the rest.

Character plays an essential role in Personality Development

Remember personality development is not only about looking good and wearing expensive brands. It is also about developing one's inner self and being a good human being. More than anyone else, you are answerable to yourself.

Do not do anything which you yourself are not convinced of. An individual is nervous only when he is ashamed of what he is doing.

Character is something which an individual is born with and seldom changes with time as against behaviour.

Honesty is an individual's inherent character which would never change irrespective of his/her situation or circumstance. Would you steal or cheat others just because you do have enough savings with you at the moment? Absolutely NOT — It is just NOT there in your blood.

A person with a good character finds acceptance wherever he goes and respected by all. Character includes traits such as:

- Honesty
- Leadership
- Trust
- Courage
- Patience

TOPIC : AIM OF LIFE

Iccha Saxena of 8th C says

Life is very beautiful and important. Everyone has an aim for their life that they always want to complete in their life. I also have an aim for life. I always have wanted to become an IPS officer. I decided this when I once saw an IPS officer near a police station and the way everyone was giving respect to her, was worth seeing and at that time I decided to become an IPS officer. When she was going to sit in the car, people of the village rushed towards her and asked her to solve their problems. Before sitting in car, she ordered many policemen to solve their problems and then she went. So I decided that, if I would be an IPS officer, I will have the power to change the society and solve people's problems.

TOPIC : AIM OF LIFE

Kavya Seta of 8th B says

My aim for life is being a businessperson, I have a strong belief that success is not just about making a profit, but also about making a positive impact on society. My aim in life is to build a successful and sustainable business that not only provides value to my customers but also contributes to the betterment of the community

To achieve this, I believe that it is essential to have a clear and well-defined mission and vision for my business. My mission is to provide high-quality products and services that meet the needs of my customers, while also reducing waste and maximizing efficiency. This is not just good for the environment, but also good for my business, as it helps to minimize costs and maximize profits..

In addition to having a strong mission and vision, I believe that it is important to have a team of dedicated and hardworking employees. I believe that my employees are my greatest asset, and I am committed to providing them with a supportive work environment, fair compensation, and opportunities for professional development. This not only helps to retain the best talent, but also motivates my employees to work harder and be more productive.

In conclusion, my aim for life as a businessperson is to build a successful and sustainable business that not only provides value to my customers but also contributes to the betterment of society. To achieve this, I believe that it is important to have a clear mission and vision, to have a dedicated and hardworking team of employees, and to maintain strong relationships with my customers. With hard work and determination, I am confident that I can achieve this goal and make a positive impact on the world

Nandika Pradeep of 8th C says.....

Life is short. We have to enjoy it. Enjoying life means having an aim. A person who doesn't have aim is a person without anything. I got to realise that 'Aim' is very important in life to be successful. My aim is to be a business woman like my father. Everyone has different aim, but, fulfilling the aim is harder. I will try hard to fulfill my aim. And I want to travel the whole India and enjoy its beauty. Foreigners are visiting India more than Indians. And the sad part is Indians are visiting other countries, while they have a vast beauty to enjoy here, in India. But no one realises this fact. And the time when I get my job, I will donate at least ₹100 to orphanages. It feels good when people smile because of you. When we help people, we become real life heroes. I want to be one. I know fulfilling all these aims is not an easy job. But still, I will try my best. All these are my aims. That's all!! Waiting for my future to fulfill my aim.

TOPIC : AIM OF LIFE

Lakshita Kashyap of 8th A says

Life without aim is useless, aimless and pointless. Life is a great blessing of God. It should be spent on a purpose, with certain aim. Otherwise, there will be no difference between the life of man and that of animals.

I want to become a teacher. The question is "Why" so. There are many other professions. One can be a doctor, earning lot of money daily. One can be an engineer, getting lakhs, as salary. One can be a shop-keeper gaining lots of profits. One can also be a trader, selling things and earning lots of profits. Why then a teacher?

I want to become a teacher because I love this profession. Not only that I love it, but also for its greatness. I know teachers in our country are low-paid. I also know that people don't think this profession as a great one. They think that teachers are merely teachers, with no high status in life.

I think teaching is the best job to do. It is because teachers bring light of knowledge in the lives of the people. They bring them out of ignorance. They teach them good values. This is what I think, I believe. In my opinion, a poor literate man is better than an illiterate rich man. So, that is why I want to be a teacher. This is my aim in life.

Topic : Hardwork beats the talent

We often hear about people who are born with amazing talent and skill in a particular area. Athletes, Business people, Authors, Actors the list goes on and on. The reality of this situation is that talent is a small part of the equation.

Talent will only take you a very small way along the journey to success, hard work and effort will get you all the way to your goals.

I love the saying “Hard work beats talent when talents don't work”. Let me share the most famous story we all have heard from our childhood: Rabbit and Tortoise race story.

One day a Rabbit met a tortoise. The Rabbit said to the tortoise, “Why do you move so slowly? Why don't you try to run like other animals?” Thus, the Rabbit laughed at the tortoise for his slow pace. The tortoise said, “I know that I cannot run. But I can beat you in a race.”

“Then come, let us run a race at once,” said the Rabbit.

The race began. The Rabbit ran very swiftly for some time. Then he stopped and looked back. He saw that the tortoise was far behind. So, he said, “Now I can take rest. Let the tortoise come here and then I shall run again.”

So the rabbit sat under a tree to take rest. But soon he fell asleep. The tortoise went on slowly but steadily. He did not stop for a moment. Suddenly the Rabbit woke up. He saw the tortoise very near the goal. He ran as fast as he could. But alas! The tortoise had already reached the goal.

The moral of this story is that do the hard work all the time and it will definitely pay you off one day. Here you see that even though tortoise is not talented to win the race it won because of hard-work and rabbit on the other side had talent to win and chose to relax and not hard work. Hence, it proves that “Hard Work Beats Talent”.

Adrita Nair, class 10th A

Topic : Hardwork beats the talent

In the world, there are two types of people: Talented person and the one who work to be successful. Not everyone would agree with me. But according to me, the one who works hard and makes daily sacrifices is the best person. This is because in most of cases, talented people can be overconfident and they might try to push others down. By this, they will not let themselves to work hard which they were doing earlier, thinking there are no people in their competition. On the other hand, the person doing hard work doesn't have any type of overconfidence and will always respect talented people and also learn from them. So HARDWORK BEATS TALENT

At last, I want to conclude by saying:

HARDWORK BEATS TALENT IF TALENT DOES NOT DO HARDWORK!!

Aadarsh Pranjal Jha

STUDENTS CORNER

Topic : Hardwork beats the talent

As Stephen King said: "Talent is cheaper than salt." The only thing that separates a genius from a successful person is hard work.

How can hard work beat talent and achieve greatness?

Seeing those people who achieve great achievements, we may feel that their luck was involved in their achievement, if we think like this, it will be very difficult for us to achieve HEIGHTS...

Those who achieve great achievements do not get their sacrifice, their work, their perseverance, their activity, all this from their parents.

Genetic qualities also have nothing to do with it, it all depends on our mindset and how we follow that thinking. Your trust and confidence both are possible only when we start preparing to fulfill them with consistency.

Topic : Hardwork beats the talent

There is a famous saying about talent and hard work," Hard work without talent is a shame, and talent without hard work is a tragedy". It means if you are a hard working person who is not dependent on luck and faith and even if you are lacking in talent its normal that you face a little difficulty but the success is yours if you work hard. Hard work can provide you the talent that you desire.

In contrary if you have good amount of talent and creativity but you are not working hard to get your goal it will create lack of experience and knowledge which never let you to reach your desired sunshine. We didn't get independence in one night, it took years of years for India to become independent it was an example of hard work, struggle and of patience. To achieve any goal we have to work hard to fulfill it. Even if we have talent, success asks for hard work. If you want to become successful you have to work hard for it. Success needs sacrifice.

It is said that "A life with idleness and sluggishness is full of sorrow and shame but if it has hard work and dedication, it is full of success and happiness".

In this line the hard work with dedication is described. It means if you are idle in your life doing nothing it's a shame for you. But if you work hard with the dedication for the work you are doing will bring success to you. It's not like that success only goes to talented people; success is for them who achieve the shine that they desired for. By sacrificing comfort and sleep the person who works hard with full dedication to get the desired shine, they will marry success. But hard work without dedication is worthless if you do a work without putting your heart in it your work will not provide you the satisfaction and success. A hard working person can not only change his life, but he can also bring a change in others life also. For example, if a person gets literate, he/she can break the chain of poverty, illiteracy and of slum.

TOPIC : HOW BEAUTIFUL IS TO HAVE TODDLER AMONG US!

In cold chills of this month, our warmest thoughts are shared to show how pleasing our days begin in taking care of these preschoolers. Witnessing these young minds develop into thinking they are independent. Staring their greatest challenge with letting go of the warm parent shoulder and coming to the cold school desk, Only to see their next peace of heaven in their teacher. Hard but a loving teacher who console those cute cries with hours of storytelling, gaining their trust and making them believe.

Each kid has different developing stage, some gain quick knowledge others learn on their quite pace. For individual children, their interactions with teachers matter to their social experiences with peers. This is because teacher-child interactions can be observed by all classmates, which helps classmates draw inferences about children's attributes and likeability and form a classroom consensus about children's reputations.

Learning the child social interactions and creating changes for them are challenging. How a child reacts to conflict and comfort with a teacher says lot of the kids character in presence of the teacher.

Exhausting it might seem, but these bundles of joy don't let that remain. Those wobbly hands working hard to write "A" is more appealing. Every day, they learn new things in life, while we learn trivial things about them. Often looking at them I remind myself there are pure humans unaware of the good and bad, their responsibility as a teacher is cherishing each day.

The teaching method needs to be developed with keeping in mind the needs of all the individual kids. Variety of approaches needs to be analyzed and incorporated in the curriculum to teach. One such example is the Reggio Emilia approach was developed by Loris Malaguzzi and named after an area in Italy. This approach demonstrates that children are powerful learners and that their interests should guide adults' decisions surrounding learning, including how the environment is arranged and what materials are provided. The Reggio Emilia approach believes the learning environment plays a critical role, and that intentionality (thoughtful planning and action) on behalf of teachers in the design of spaces and the selection and arrangement of materials significantly influences children's level of engagement and learning (Edwards, 2002).

To be able to train these kids and impart the right knowledge, teachers must as well be able to govern the teaching methods and habits. Analyze the outcome of these methods and develop a plan to execute towards their education. Every student reminds a teacher of their own kids and toddler especially brings the motherhood for these teachers.

Once again, to remind all these young minds are the driving forces of tomorrow, a mere reflection of our society. Let's breed the good in them and create a foundation for the coming generations. Reminding them tough are situations and not time.

Children's are amazing, cherish them. Loveable, love them. Divine respect them. Kind hearted, join them. Resourceful support them. Zany laugh with them. Questioners, encourage them.

Yes we have the creative mind with us, and we need a blank sheet to make a blueprint for bringing it in the front of the world. And here the blank sheet is toddlers with which we can make a blueprint to take the world to a great level.

Always I think while teaching kids we don't alone enjoy we also learn things with them. Getting new ideas in explaining new concepts in different and understanding ways to them.

Although I'm not their parent, but I care for them each day. I cuddle, read and sing with them. And feel so happy to watch them as they play. I see new accomplishment and help them to learn and grow. They come to me for comfort, I soothe their tears and proudly show their work to me and I give loudest cheers. No I'm not their parent but my role is just as them. I know some day will come we have to part. But I know each child I cared for will be forever in my heart.

As a teacher I feel great and blessed with my toddlers. With my children I can say my every day will be different existing and new. If you want to be among toddlers first you should follow a rule "Always be positive" and stay positive.

One most wonderful thing is to remember is that they will get really attached to you. Enjoy with them and laugh it off and every child will be happier. Let them create art and crafts their own way, we can be just consistent and patient with them.

As a teacher we can do a great thing for them that is create as much of a positive environment as possible and also let them explore and you can see how beautiful and wonderful you feels when you are among toddlers.

Never do a mistake that simply under estimate their abilities and intelligence. We can make a personal connection with each one of them. Enjoy with them and sing silly songs with body movements.

Be a model of what you want them to do it can take many many repeated efforts before they grasp its. To make them busy we can involve them in our little, little jobs. They also feel proud to do such works with us.

As a teacher its out duty to encourage them to make their own choices when possible.

Be at their level when talking to them. Give them cuddles
